

GETTING MY BLOOD DRAWN

I will go to the lab for my blood draw.

I will check in.

I will sit and wait until my name is called.

I will go into a room and sit in a chair.

I will roll up my sleeve.

They will put a big rubberband around my arm. I will squeeze my fist.

I will feel a little pinch when the needle touches my skin.

They will take some blood.

I do not have to look at the blood if I do not want.

They will put a bandaid on my arm if I want.

That was not so bad!

My doctor will be so proud of me!
